Foreword: Confederation Earth
as an inevitable form of political organization

Since at some point you will realize your bodily smallness in the Universe, and your intellectual grandiosity as a form of manifestation of the Absolute, a unique planetary social arrangement is inevitable. And not something that will be imposed by some fascist or utopian philosophy, but spontaneous; by humanizing experience, that the way we live now makes no sense.

Primarily, states with fascist attitudes towards economically underdeveloped and socio-politically disordered communities of tribal and national sizes are meaningless.

Fascism is the arrogance of European states based on speculative, and essentially worthless, philosophical systems of the last three centuries.

The height of conceit is the self-proclaimed elitism of members of secret societies; what kind of theosophical, anthroposophical, Asian-esoteric, Masonic, ... and only God knows what kind of knights and orders there are.

Seen from the point of view of mathematicians, engineers, biologists, physicists, astrophysicists, artists, musicians, ... it is really a shame to fall so low and consider yourself today a theosophist, anthroposophist, communist, existentialist, deconstructionist, pessimist, ... when things are very simple; as for the part of physics that cannot be measured by instruments.

The reality behind physics (metaphysics) is actually physics, in which there are no laboratory repetitions and guinea pigs.

Without physics, there is no metaphysics. That is, the so-called metaphysics is explainable by physics. God is real, true. Existing.

But He can be understood by slightly stronger brains than those who "stitched" the Vedas, Phenomenology of Spirit, Organon, "Kapital", "Being And Time" (Sein und Zeit", Theory of Relativity, ...

There will always be idiots on Earth, and that means we will always need the police, but for once, as a planetary community of mostly noble people, we won't need soldiers and guns.

Because, just as no country invests in its army now, to have it against itself, so in the Confederation of Earth, we will not need a confederate army, against the confederation.

As soon as we stop investing in the production of means of destruction, we will have funds for food and education for the children of the whole world, for wages for workers, which are above the maintenance of the simple reproduction of the Labor force.

According to my understanding of the intellectual and technological level of the current Earthlings - the Earth Confederation is somewhere close; around the corner, where Psychiatry for the elite is located.

It is not necessary to kill anyone, remove anyone, ...

Anyone who has managed to complete legal studies in order to manipulate laws, anyone who has managed to learn banking in order to manipulate money, anyone who has managed to learn sociology in order to manipulate masses of people, etc... can easily learn what the meaning of honesty is; in work and life. Where there is a will, there is a way. In ten years, the Earth Confederation is a reality. It would be enough just not to disturb the project. Those who would not like the loss of elitism, on billions of hard currency units, do not have to want the Confederation of the Earth. It is enough that they do not invest their money in the destruction of that possibility. Because there are certainly many people, on this planet, who would agree that all the treasures of this planet belong to all people, that everyone enjoys freedom.

I have a program.

I don't have the money to help the idea, nor to make the program public.

In the education of new politicians, it would be enough to invest less than 1% of what is invested in weapons for the current slaughterhouse on Earth.

Ten years!

But only if you all want it.

If you don't all want the Confederacy of Earth - read this as a fairy tale, because no one needs the idea for a new military slaughterhouse.

Basic conditions for admission of some country into Confederation Earth is to be a planetary political unit.

Confederation Earth will, as political organization, be based on free access and exit of confederate states; into or out of it. Basic conditions for admission of some country to Confederation Earth are following:

 24. The prime minister of confederated state can only be a person who has been confirmed to possess knowledge mentioned in point 23.
 25. If such a person does not exist in the country that is a candidate for entry into Confederation Earth, or in confederated state such a person has died, and there is no qualified person from the people of that country, for position of the president, then a qualified person must be appointed from another confederal state.
 26. Education of all politicians of entire Confederation Earth must be done with the philosophical literature "Metaphysics of Fifth Epoch" by Dragoljub M. V. P. Especially when we keep in mind the political-philosophical dilettantism of "Bamberg program" of June 9, 1996.

27. Confederation Earth must have its own army, to fight against big gangs; which can be numerically greater and more armed than police of confederate state, in which criminal group is active.
28. Confederation Earth must finance and maintain defense system against large extraterrestrial bodies and possible existing extraterrestrial beings dangerous to the planet Earth.

Basic conditions for admission of a country to the Confederation Earth - explained in details

Basic condition no. 1 for admission to Confederation:

that the country does not have an army.

At the beginning of this volume, it was said that it is clear to everyone that no country invests its wealth in its army in order to have it against itself.

(Dženan Smajić for Aljaseer) wrote on May 8, 2021 (for the year 2020):

"US military spending has surpassed that of China, India, Russia, Great Britain, Saudi Arabia, Germany, France, Japan, South Korea, Italy and Australia combined."

"Last year, (2021) the countries of the world spent a total of 2,113 billion dollars on armies."

We will need this data when we think about investing a percentage of this money in the education of the children of the Confederation.

Basic condition no. 2 for admission to Confederation:

that the state does not tolerate violence against women.

Primarily violent towards women are those, who are made by nature to be physically stronger; to protect women in their (women's) special situations: in pregnancy and, in simple social communities, from wild beasts.

Types of violence against women are known to all people today and have nothing to do with savagery, but are expressions of bestiality, i.e., the mental illnesses of so-called cultivated primates.

During 2019, doctors throughout Serbia noticed, during examinations, and reported as many as 4,105 cases of violence against women, the latest report of the Institute for Public Health of Serbia "Dr. Milan Jovanović Batut" showed.

Basic condition no. 8 for admission to Confederation:

that the state has the death penalty option in its laws:

a. for anyone who rapes a child.

You don't need to get too excited when a petty thief steals some food, because he's hungry. But why does someone have to rape a child and, in order to hide the traces of his crime, kill the child? Even rape itself is not to be tolerated, and even less so is the killing of a previously raped child; women, ...

So, there really are crimes that must be so qualified that the perpetrator must be sentenced to death, and it is high time that all countries of the world return the death penalty to their Criminal Laws.

Some philosopher said that the unsaid also exists in the said. In the done there is also the unsaid. If someone considers nations that allow blood revenge to be primitive, let them think that a nation that allows blood revenge is, unconsciously, on the right path of not tolerating evil beyond the sense of tolerance.

In order for no one to have to resort to revenge murder, an uncorrupted judiciary is necessary, and before that, uncorrupted investigative bodies of a criminal act.

b. for anyone who kills a human being out of selfishness. a corrupt judge must also be convicted of murder out of self-interest, as well as corrupt investigative bodies, who put an innocent person to the death penalty, out of self-interest; in order to hide the real culprit through investigation and conviction.

c. for anyone who kills a human being out of jealousy. Murder out of jealousy must not be condemned otherwise than with the death penalty, because no person has to live with another, whom they do not like as a love or family partner, and can go far without killing.

d. for anyone who kills a human being out of revenge. In order to eradicate revenge killings, we must, as I have already said, have an uncorrupted judiciary and an uncorrupted police (investigative authorities): This means that we must introduce the death penalty for revenge killings only in those countries where there is complete trust in the judiciary and investigative authorities.

This trust must not be doubted until the people of the country, through a referendum, in a percentage higher than 75% of the voters (three quarters of adult citizens) qualifies him as honest; non-corrupt; undoubtedly. With a corrupt judiciary and corrupt police (investigative bodies) of the state, no state can introduce the death penalty in the Codes: The basis of order in the state is an honest police and an honest judiciary.

Since police officers and soldiers have benefited seniority, they must, for the benefits of living in an orderly state, to which they themselves contributed with their honest work (if they contributed), and for the benefits of retired life, beyond several decades in an orderly state, and the benefits of honest work and deserve.

e. for anyone who kills a human being according to a custom of a tribe, nation or state.

Somewhere, there are still beliefs that by eating the brain or heart of an extraordinarily valued man, the extraordinary qualities of him (killed from a primitive belief) are taken over.

f. for anyone who gets a person under the age of twenty-one "hooked" on hard drugs.

An overdose of strong drugs leads to death, and strong addiction to hard drugs makes addicts mentally and physically disabled; trouble for the addict, trouble for his relatives, trouble for the state.

If someone, out of his own stupidity, falls into a strong addiction to hard drugs - he should be allowed to "enjoy" hard drugs at the expense of himself and his family, relatives and friends. But as a disabled person of any kind, he should not be charged to the state. Not in any variant. If there is money for drugs - there is also money for detoxification (addiction treatment). Or not?

Let's not go into details.

Basic condition no. 9 for admission to Confederation:

that the state does not persecute homosexuals.

Let's say that every sexually mature person has the right to sexually satisfy themselves with any sexually mature person on a voluntary basis.

In the Universe, music is what can be heard with which to understand both the visible and the invisible. The entire range of the audible corresponds to the range of the visible and the invisible: As it is in music, so it is in electro-magnetic waves in the spectrum of light.

We need to apply what we know in music to the range of light and we have 1188 examples of embodied intelligence. By the term "intelligence" I mean the work-production power of the brain.

Every living being is one syllable of vibrations (colors):

1. The basic color in the syllable (prime) shows the level of intelligence (the higher the frequency, the higher intelligence - the productive capacity of the brain).
2. The second color – (third) shows the gender of the person: major third = male, minor third = female).
3. The third color – (quint) shows libido (pure, enlarged or reduced).
4. The fourth color – (septime) shows affection towards know the State of things (big, small or diminished).

If in some living being the second vibration is not determined according to the body structure, or it is "neither there nor here", that is, "both there and here", then we have cases where in a male body the second vibration is female (minor third), and is the second male vibration (major third) in a female body. Given that not every hypothalamus (brain area, which is responsible for the perineal tract) functions equally, we have men and women with more sensitive anus than some women's clitoris is sensitive. It means that someone who is undefined in terms of his energetic-physiological structure is not guilty of being a homosexual. Real homosexuals "do not ring all the bells" that they are homosexuals.

Social problems are caused by "fashionable homosexuals", i.e. careerists, who today want to present themselves as more educated, more cultured, more intelligent, more cosmopolitan, more pacifist, ... than people who are naturally settled; that is - as it should be by nature. That is, according to God, which is confirmed by intelligence, (which is proven by the polarizations on plus-minus and male-female, the free will of all living beings and the Set of all possibilities that make sense; with which three impossibilities also go; so that the Absolute would make sense. Because if that were to be the case:

1. something could be created from nothing, if that were to be the case,
 2. plus and plus (magnets) attracted, if that would be the case,
 3. The state of affairs can go backwards (as idiots fantasize about traveling through time (which does not exist)), then it would be absolutely meaningless.
- Because of that:

Basic condition no. 10 for admission to Confederation:
that the state does not allow propagation of homosexuality.

In a homosexual relationship, there are all the outpourings of attention and tenderness, but also the inevitable burden on the members of the relationship, to maintain and support the relationship as a natural form of sexual pairing. The truth is this: if one man loves another man, it can be something like brotherly love, but if one man uses another man, in order to achieve an orgasm in a physical relationship with him, then both of them are mixed up the functions of men's bodily organs.

It's the same with lesbians: if they stick rubber bands and cucumbers into each other's vaginas, then they are not mentally healthy, because instead of original organs they use bloodless objects; for pleasure that is complete only when living tissues are paired, not when poles and flesh are paired. So: "whoever likes what he likes", but not to promote something unhealthy as "better", when it is not even normal.

However: people are primarily social beings and we should say for sure that homosexuality is a mental-physiological deviation if all people were selfless, peaceful and benevolent, but - people have never been like that: Today, in this socio-philosophically totally degraded civilization, two same-sex people do not always pair up because of same-sex sexual relations, but because they cannot live alone, and they do not want to live with "cattle", bully, a smelly, stupid, uncultivated person of the opposite sex; because they get along better with a person of their own sex.

Therefore, peace-loving people are driven into same-sex unions not always by the possible mental-physiological deviance of themselves, but also by the cultural-sociological deviance of those who are counted as sexually healthy people, but in fact they are human scum; and they are a worse option for a life (primarily social) relationship, which would be heterosexual with them, than the option for a life relationship, someone with whom the relationship would be homosexual. Anyone who is ready to attack homosexuals with sticks and "boxers" is not a peaceful person and is not good for a heterosexual relationship either: Today he would beat homosexuals, and when he "feels like it" he also beats the person of his heterosexual relationship.

His heterosexual relationship is not healthy because of the way he is, who is ready to use violence to solve things both in matters of freedom of social life, and in matters of his, in his opinion, "healthy", social relationship. By the way - he is mentally incapable of understanding and will never admit that he, along with many others like him, "driven" someone into a homosexual relationship.

What I said before about homosexuality should be valid within the framework of the socio-political community called the state. But since people are not selfless, peaceful and benevolent in terms of civilization, i.e. internationally, we have to look at homosexuality within a country from the standpoint of the social community called human civilization. This means: within the framework of the state, one must look at the rights and freedoms of all its citizens, but also at the obligations of all its citizens towards their state; from whom they expect the protection of their personal rights and freedoms. All this especially from the position of the state, which has already been enslaved, robbed, burned and bombed and which can expect it again; which must reckon with it and which must be defensively ready for it.

Because homosexuals pretend to be pacifists, and as peacemakers they are not capable either within homosexual relationships, or even within the smallest socio-political community of their country, and especially not internationally, to change something politically and to act in any way, because somewhere they are condemned to death, and as political they do not take the factors seriously; not as much as in countries that are favorable to homosexuals. And here we come to two things.

The first thing is that within the state, homosexuals must be obliged both in the military and at work (in cases of emergency: floods, earthquakes, large fires, ...), as long as their country can be attacked by those who will rape them, homosexuals. , like all girls and women, because - "a hole is a hole!"; and for the sexual relief of the soldiers of the aggressor, and for the human devaluing of the population of the attacked human community.

Another thing is that homosexuality would have to be protected from everyone in the world who approves and advocates it, not only from the country where they (homosexuals) live.

Since homosexuals internationally and supra nationally act as pacifists out of selfish interests, and for their protection within one state they seek international help for them (homosexuals), in protecting their (homosexuals) rights and freedoms within the state in which they live, homosexuals should seek this as well. international guarantees that the country, they live in, will never be attacked militarily.

And not that in the event of an attack on our country, we, who Homosexuals treat as primitives, have to defend it; And I know a sea of pacifists who don't even know how to mow the grass, let alone activate a machine gun.

Basic condition no. 11 for admission to Confederation:
that the state does not allow male homosexual couples to adopt children.

We must not rule out the possibility that a homosexual couple of men is thinking about the "future", so by adopting other people's children, they are raising new scumbags for themselves, Rosetten. Arschlöcher. It is quite possible that a homosexual couple of men will convince their adopted children that this is normal in life, that "dad" or "mom" shove their "penis" into their anus. Or to give those children their, "dad's" and "mom's" "tails" as pacifiers. It's not impossible. It's not unthinkable. It is not excluded. It happens.

Let it be admitted that these assumptions of mine about the sexual abuse of children in a homosexual male couple can be somehow refuted, as a reason for prohibiting such couples from adopting children of heterosexual parents, but if such a couple, fundamentally unnatural, does not establish a natural family, there is no reason at all to it is allowed to have a negative influence in human society, by unnaturally building up the heterosexual family; by adopting children from the polarizations of living beings set by nature.

Let the advocates of homosexuality and celibacy live homosexually with each other, but let them not forget that they were not born from homosexual relationships, but from heterosexual ones. Then ask them a basic question.

"Do you homosexuals and sex-abstainers want other people's children in order to convert the species to homosexuality or in order to (again) selfishly satisfy the billion-year-old instinct of polarized relations between people in you; as in all living creatures?"

Homosexuality and celibacy would long ago have turned planet Earth into a planet of the plants.

Basic condition no. 12 for admission to Confederation:
that the state allows the free sale of all types of drugs and opiates through stores registered for the sale of drugs and alcoholic beverages.

If someone cannot learn from the experience of others that hard drugs are a disaster for the human body - let him enjoy them until his own death. And there is a noble solution for reducing opiates to the extent necessary for healthcare:

To financially support the current producers of opiates, farmers, for the production of healthy food. With a note, that the state must, by its laws, by introducing the free sale of opiates, establish the unprofitability of smuggling them, and then by the judiciary and the police, by uncompromising application of Basic condition no. 8, point "b", to protect individual farmers from coercion, of any kind, to produce opiates.

If opiate production stops and opiate smugglers disappear - the "attraction" of curious and mentally weak people to opiates will disappear. Or the number of them will be reduced to less and less; until even the stupidest people will understand that drugs are a voluntary condemnation of themselves to a quick death.

Basic condition no. 13 for admission to Confederation:
that the state allows all religions.

God is one. How can a person explain to people - when they won't even think about it and when they are against the conversation in advance - that monotheism means observing all manifestations in the One "standing" outside of him/the One, and that polytheism means observing all manifestations in the One "standing" inside him/one? And then they are slaughtered because of the One who is "all in a pile", and viewed from two positions; outside and inside. Allowing all religions also means not forcing people to follow rituals and rules of belief in one human society, which, according to some people's assumptions, are "pleasing to God".

As if God needs the heart of a boy or a girl on the altar (by the Mayans, Incas, ...) or the blood of a lamb (by the ancient Jews).

The supreme commandments of all religions are the same. This means that conversion from one religion to another, through "good faith" persuasion or force, makes no sense. The highest rewards for believers of all religions (not sects!) are the same in all religions.

Such bigotry and wars between members of religions are proof that the heirs of the founders of the most accepted understandings and interpretations of God did not fully understand the essence and indisputability of God's existence, so this understanding is found today in a few people. And many people today, in religions, behave with interests, which have nothing to do with the essence of God. Does God, who does not wear any clothes or trousers, need the "worships of God's earthly representatives", who have rag pots on their heads and blankets on their shoulders, embroidered with gold, silver and silk threads; with sewn-on precious stones and mother-of-pearl?

What kind of circus is it in churches? What robes did Buddha, Jesus, and Muhammad wear, and which robes do patriarchs, popes, bishops, cardinals, and lower ministers of God wear?

Among some nations, one segment of teaching about God was proclaimed, among other nations others, but all had the same purpose: teaching people about the meaning of benevolence, i.e. about the purpose of not doing evil; no matter which living being.

The source of all destructive teachings is human malice, and the undercurrent of that source is stupidity.

Basic condition no. 14 for admission to Confederation:

that the state allows the sale of all religious, political and philosophical books in stores registered for the sale of books.

This means that every person should be allowed to read every opinion about God.

Interpretations of texts about God within the family, among acquaintances and friends are private matters. Whoever understands what from the texts about God, let him count in his profit. Since every man has the right to the truth and every man can fall into the delusion that he has learned the truth, the following four provisions are important:

Basic condition no. 15 for admission to Confederation:

that the state does not allow religious education of any denomination, neither in elementary, nor in secondary schools, nor in the police. Because children in primary and secondary schools do not have enough knowledge of the basic sciences (biology, physics, logic, ...) to be able to enter into an effective discussion with perhaps philosophically-morally-religiously insufficiently qualified teachers and teachers.

A policeman must certainly not maintain order and serve the state, on any basis of his religious or political opinions, convictions and (lack of) knowledge, but must act religiously and politically indifferent in his work.

Basic condition no. 16 for admission to Confederation:

that the state does not allow the propagation of religious views through private visits and gatherings in private premises.

Sects are persuading their religious attitudes and their "knowledge" about God by visiting houses and apartments:

They take away people's private time, they do not present the "teachings" of other sects and world-wide religions, but only offer "their" notebooks and books.

Basic condition no. 17 for admission to Confederation:

that the state isolates for three years every human being who intentionally destroy a monument of a religious group or person.

Basic condition no. 18 for admission to Confederation:

that the state isolates for three years every human being who publicly or privately insult a religious belief or a religious group or person.

28

Basic condition no. 19 for admission to Confederation:

that the state does not give child allowance (money) to children above the number of three per parental couple.

I personally do not approve of abortion, but I will not interfere in it, but only express the opinion that a high birth rate should not be supported. Here it means that the person entering into a new parental couple - the children from the previous one are also counted. I guess it is obvious to everyone that there are many of us, people, on this planet.

Basic condition no. 20 for admission to Confederation:

that the state does not allow people who have completed their working life to vote in political elections; they can be on the board chosen if they are in vital force.

In the last seventy years of Serbia's political life, it has been seen that old people have no will, no strength and no interest in state politics. And in the poverty of Serbia, it is easy to manipulate them, with some small sums of money, some kind of financial aid.

This does not apply to all pensioners and old people, but since it is not possible to determine exactly from what year, someone's age, someone is not interested in this world and the politics of his country at all, I started from the fact that the Ministry of Military Defense of Serbia estimates physical incapacity of men (at the age of 60) and women (50) for military service to the state of Serbia.

If someone wants to move the age of exclusion from the political life of the state up, let's say to 65 for men and 63 for women, what are the years of their retirement - please! But once they are really harmful to the political life of the state, when they are corruptible and incapable, both physically and mentally, of opposing some harmful political administration of the state.

And it goes so that old, disinterested people give their political votes to the harmful political administration of the state, or stand as a basis for manipulation of political votes. Next: Criminals, convicted over the age of 27, to forever be deprived of the right to vote politically. Here, it is enough to stand on the point of view that for people up to the age of 27, criminal acts are counted as learning to live in society. But once they have to decide, whether they will live for the common good, with all the benefits and obligations, or whether they will be treated as enemies of the society they come from: Their citizenship cannot be taken away, but they can be taken away from their legal influence on the life of society. Who do evil with their criminal actions. A person who marries a person over the age of 27, who has been convicted of criminal acts, should also be deprived of the right to vote politically, because it is more likely that they will protect the interests and actions of their criminally active spouse, rather than the interests of society.

People older than 63/65 years can be politically elected to the state administration; although they remain without the right to a political vote. Which is essentially not a loss for them, because we follow that logic, that it is not moral to vote for yourself as, say, a candidate for the president of a party or state, and it is not even to be expected that you vote for a political opponent, because the team would admit that his opponent is, the company that chooses, a better option.

Basic condition no. 21 for admission to Confederation:
that the state does not allow voting to any person who does not know all the political programs of all the parties and politicians who go to the political elections.

Basic condition no. 22 for admission to Confederation:
that the state does not allow any political party and any politician, who has not crossed paths with the political systems of the twentieth and earlier centuries of this civilization, into the political election match.

The world's number one misconception today is the belief that the prosperity of this civilization lies in the development of electronics and bio-genetics. The prosperity of this civilization lies in sorting out the situation in the heads. Of course, this is only possible where there is a mind (work-operational abilities of the brain):

What do you do in an empty head?

The fact that in the whole world the poor have been oppressed by the dictatorship of small-minded selfish people, who treat their frustrations with decadent enjoyment of material things, bodily excesses and counting money, which is "theirs" as much as immortality is theirs, means that the poor are intelligent enough to understand that everything between people, nations and states must be placed in meaningful relationships.

Only the philosophy of the "Fifth Epoch" establishes new relationships: <http://www.iging-studio.ch/literatur.html>

So far, no epochal change has been initiated by someone philosophy (some idea), but every previous one is epoch-making the change was subsequently analyzed philosophically and historically. But - the fifth epochal social arrangement is a matter of common sense philosophy.

The epoch-making social institutions of this civilization are:

1. barbarism,
2. slave ownership,
3. feudalism,
4. capitalism and the upcoming
5. humanism (dictatorship of humanity).

The salvation of this civilization is where we never even looked for it: in the now deluded mind; who deceives himself that in leisure and abundance he will become himself again.

We came to the understanding that the knowledge that we had to acquire, in order to see that it is not decisive, is not worth the so-called social superstructure -; namely knowledge for the production of material goods. Science has helped us, through technology, production and consumption, to understand ourselves as beings with a purpose, which (purpose) has nothing to do with ownership of the means of production, nor with capital.

The spokesperson for the aspiration towards the fifth epochal social organization of this civilization, does not demand higher daily wages, nor higher monthly wages, nor ownership of the means of production, but demands honesty and the cessation of enrichment without work; cessation of enrichment without any connection with the production of material goods:

"He is neither a worker, nor an entrepreneur, nor an investor, nor the owner of the means of production, and in the end all the money is with him." Because he is a banker:

It is not just about money as a means of distributing enjoyment, because there is so much money and goods in this world that we would all quickly degenerate as enjoyers of something, but it is about the existential minimum and enabling the so-called spiritual education; at least to those who are mentally gifted and who want self-knowledge.

Slave ownership is the exploitative political philosophy of the family and the city-state of the ancient world.

Feudalism is an exploitative political philosophy of an individual within his tribe.

Capitalism is the exploitative political philosophy of a nation; imperialist-minded on a planetary level.

In all three levels of utilization of labor power, the profiteer is the individual; slave owner, feudal lord and capitalist.

Communism of the twentieth century of this era and National Socialism are, declaratively, socially interesting political economies. But communism of the 20th century renamed itself the dictatorship of the proletariat. Because it realized that it was "far" from communism, and National Socialism in its political program "recognized" its imperialist aspirations of the type of capitalism of the 19th century.

Today, the entire planet is a platform for the exploitation of people by corporate capitalism.

Therefore, let us be free to conclude that, during the thousands of years of this civilization, only the platforms and ways of exploiting people have changed; which changed thanks to the scientific and technological development of civilization, but the philosophy of today's multibillionaire and the philosophy of the slave owners of Babylon and Athena is the same.

Epoch socio-political change, in the interests of cultured, moral and self-aware people, will only happen when people cultivate, civilize and become aware of themselves through their own aspirations and efforts, and not if they steal money from multibillionaires or kill bankers.

Because the Earth Confederation has a basis and chances only with all cultivated, moral and conscious people of the entire planet. It means with all those who are intelligent enough to understand that physical-military violence is a primitive change of profit collectors, and not the establishment of the Epoch of Humanism; where enlightened capitalists and bankers will also live.

Basic condition no. 23 for admission to Confederation: that the state, if it becomes a confederal state, allows that the president of the confederal state can only be a human being who knows all segments of the Absolute, i.e. who has understood the universal State of things and the purpose of the moral living of human beings, i.e. the well-being of the entire "man" species, on the basis of moral of the lives of human individuals.

Basic condition no. 24 for admission to Confederation: The prime minister of a confederated state can only be a person who has been confirmed to possess the knowledge mentioned in point 23.

Basic condition no. 25 for admission to Confederation:

If such a person does not exist in a country that is a candidate for entry into the Confederation Earth, or if such a person has died in a confederated country, and there is no qualified person from the people of that country for the position of its president, then a qualified person from another nation, another country must be appointed to the position of president of such a country. Because: persons who are moral enough to lead general state affairs in a confederated state are so moral that they will conduct all affairs everywhere in the interest of any nation, i.e. the Confederation Earth.

Basic condition no. 26 for admission to Confederation:

Education of all politicians of the entire Confederation of the Earth must be done with the philosophical literature "Metaphysics of the Fifth Epoch"

<http://www.iging-studio.ch/literatur.html>

Especially when we bear in mind the political-philosophical dilettantism of the Bamberger program of June 9, 1996.

I have stated in many places that the entire philosophy of Europe for the last three hundred years is proof of the intellectual misery of Europeans. Let's start like this:

Regarding drawing conclusions about plants and animals, we start from the first specimens, which we notice as different, compared to some others. And so, inductively, we obtain conclusions about species.

We can conclude about a human community, as a community of intelligent individuals, by how much it is imbued with cooperation and how much selfishness.

Cooperatives are evidence of an intelligent understanding that interpersonal cooperation and assistance strengthen the cooperative, and then in turn strengthen each cooperative member; both physically and financially.

Selfishness is proof of the animal understanding of the den, the horde, the pack, ...

Thousands of years ago, people rose to the level of cooperatives. There are no examples of selfish people anywhere, in any human community known in written history, so many that a specific human community could be treated as a social animal.

When Herodotus mentions tribes, in which the sexual intercourse of human couples, i.e. gratification, took place in human settlements, in front of the eyes of passing inhabitants of the settlement, we cannot speak of the animal arrangement within the tribe, but of the primitiveness of the members of the settlement.

So, we can talk about people's social arrangements, that within peoples and countries known in history and the present, cooperatives are dominant.

Slave ownership and exploitation of the members, by instinct and refinement of the established cooperative communities of people, takes place where in the minds of the members of the human community, the pack reflex from the jungle and savannah works.

What has changed over thousands of years?

Only the political systems and the dominant religions within the people changed.

First, religions determined politics, and today politics influence people's religious attitudes.

The Earth Confederation is a project whose aspiration is to give politics and the so-called it places religion in one relationship expressed by the State of Things in the Universe, i.e. in one relationship with the concrete man, as an individual, which is inseparable from the Absolute, just as the Absolute is not absolute without man; even a single one.

The Bamberger Program of June 9, 1969 does not pay attention to the criminal acts and deeds of individuals of the genus, (tribe, nation, union) within the genus, (tribe, nation, union): Which is fine, because such things are settled by the laws of the states. But the Bamberger Program does not rise to a philosophical level above politics and religion. Why? Because not even the entire philosophy of Europe, for the last two and a half thousand years, has come close to the State of Things, so neither can the Bamberger Program:

„Die Paneuropa-Union ist, als übernationale und überparteiliche Bewegung, den politischen Ideen und Idealen ihres Gründers, Richard Coudenhove-Kalergi, treu verbunden. (1922.)“

First and then immediately - confusion!

(... a non-political movement to the political ideas and ideals of its founder ... remained faithful.)

The Pan-European Union, as a supranational and supra-party movement, remained faithful to the political ideas and ideals of its founder (ideologist) Count Kalergi, but as things stood and stand - the count's idea was also religious, not only politically colored:

"Pan" means whole, total, comprehensive and complete.

Which countries have not been admitted to the EU to this day?

Albania, Serbia, BiH, Montenegro, North Macedonia, Turkey, Ukraine, Russia, ...

Why were they not accepted and who decides on this?

Switzerland and the Vatican will not enter the EU.

Why? Their citizens, i.e. politicians, know this.

The first provision of the Bamberger program states this:

The Paneuropa-Union declares itself to:

"Christianity as the soul of Europe; especially to the Christian image of the man", and "Pan-Europe fights against all tendencies that destroy the spiritual and moral strength of Europe: Nihilism, Atheism and immoral Consumerism".

What did the ideologues of the founders and re-programmers of Paneuropa know about the soul and Christianity, let's not think much, because it is readable in the whole reprogram, that they did not understand even a simple thing: that Nihilism is a philosophical deviation, Atheism is a religious deviation, Consumerism (?) is cultural and non-cultural.

Confederation Earth will fight, with the Laws of the Confederate States, against crime, corruption in public services and against violence against children and people, but against Nihilism, Atheism, and the selfishness of conformists (Consumerism) only by offering an irrefutable understanding of the absolute State of things (by which the philosophy of the whole of Europe in the last ten thousand years did not come close, so neither could Count Richard Coudenhove-Kalergi in 1922, or the ideologues of the Bamberg Program.)

And it is quite understandable why Hitler banned the Pan-European Union: because he and his financiers believed that they had a more "functional" variant of the fight against atheism, that is, against communism, that is, for the enslavement of the planet.

"Metaphysics of the 21st century" is a philosophy that wants to hand over Confederation Earth to the management of people who are, first and foremost, connoisseurs of the State of things in totality, that is, philosophers, as Plato proposed, and only then politicians.

This means that in order to establish Confederation Earth, we do not need to have, not even the majority, let alone all citizens as valuable philosophers, but in the positions of political leaders of the confederated states, they cannot be philosophical dilettantes, at the level of those European politicians, who were delighted with the "Pan Europe" of 1922. and the Bamberg re-Program from 1996.

Which again means, as I have already said in one place, that the top rated philosophers of this world are responsible for all political state and interstate troubles in the world:

If philosophers and theologians of any century had philosophies and theologies that would explain the Universe, the planet Earth, man in God (the Universe), man himself, as well as God (the Universe) in man, in a few minutes to every schoolchild, people would have long ago acquired the basics for life based on some other motivational norms.

Of course, it cannot be expected that all lunatics and parasites now agree to the philosophy of humanity, but essentially it is only about two things, which can improve everything:

1. do we have teachers who know the meaning of us humans in the Universe? and

2. are we, in a sufficient majority, willing to accept the philosophy of humanity, or would we prefer it to remain this way. So whoever can steal what they can; or to please those who have already stolen a lot?

Based on honest answers, we can decide whether we want the rule of humanity or we want occupation the position of those we consider responsible for our moral and material misery. In other words, are we all, regardless of our personal bank balances, equal philosophical-theological-moral wretched people?

If we are only for rotations in the positions of today's rulers, then the exploiters are no worse than the exploited, so let the exploited continue to serve the fools, die for them, flatter them, ... hoping to gain power, financial reserves, comfort, ...

Basic condition no. 27 for admission to Confederation:

Confederation Earth must have its own army to fight against big gangs; which may be greater in number and more armed than the police of the confederated state, in which the criminal group is active.

Basic condition no. 28 for admission to Confederation:

The Confederation of the Earth must finance and maintain a defense system against large extraterrestrial bodies and possible existing extraterrestrial beings dangerous to the Confederacy of Earth.

Afterword: Hierarchy of "souls" of deceased Earthlings

As a beginner in interests in so-called spiritual things, I read everything that could be found in the Serbian-Croatian language in the seventies of the last century.

And since I was not satisfied with what I read - I started looking for answers myself. All those who allowed themselves to talk about the so-called spiritual things, they spoke and wrote that something of man remains when his body dies. That is correct.

However, I was not satisfied with the claims about what remains of a person incorporeally, where it remains, how long it lasts, to whom or what it lasts for and why it lasts; since it could perish like a perishable body.

In the meantime, I found the answers to all these questions and put them in writing in many of my texts.

Now, first of all, let me specify that what some consider the souls of the dead, I understand as memories: personally unimportant, personally important and socially important.

I consider the latter two to be useful knowledge, and I consider the first to be socially irrelevant data of an intelligent individual: regardless of how intelligent or even weakly intelligent.

Secondly, I will call any memory, living or deceased, a "soul" here, but so that you don't forget the following: It makes no sense to talk about souls as entities independent of the body before the birth of the body; nor after the death of the body. The "soul" is born with the body, that is, the ability of the brain to work in the interest of the body to which it belongs.

The "soul" dies functionally with the body, but continues to exist with what it acquired in the body. Lasts like a book. That means with all the joys and misfortunes, which the mental being has done to himself; doing something for yourself and others.

And to experience or conclude something new - it cannot be without the brain, because as I said, the "soul" is the activity of the brain in matters of interest to the bearer of the brain.

So, it seems that life, considering the short duration of man on Earth, has no meaning; if we look at the cycles of the Absolute, then with that in mind - maybe it is better for a person to kill himself immediately; as soon as he realizes that nothing is eternal.

However, we see that many people prefer to live stupid and happy, rather than striving for bliss for "here" and "there".

Although bliss requires much less effort than happiness.

Bliss is close to anyone who is not selfish, who is not quarrelsome and who does not harm others. So, for bliss, you need a little brain and some inaction, and for happiness, you need a lot of stupidity.

The dead continue a relatively limited permanent energetic existence; with the themes of his bliss for here and there, or with the themes of his struggle to gain happiness here.

After the death of the body, the "soul" of a benevolent former Earthling is active as little as it is in a living person while he sleeps and dreams.

Now: when a living man sleeps and dreams, it is not the same whether he dreams of beasts and monsters, or flowery meadows, music and beautiful people. The "soul" of a deceased person exists with the entire intellectual capital it acquired here. There are no repairs. There are no erasures.

Whether we mourn the deceased or not - we cannot do anything for him. With his last breath - he can no longer change anything in his stock of memories.

The meaning of living in the body can be thought about on the basis of this fact: Everything has its end. Everything disappears and ends at any time.

Everything that an honest man experiences in his life makes him happy or blessed. The fact is that a human being can exist blissfully even in the body, on this planet, for millions of years.

Blissful and active; with all the joys of his body and mind. For this to happen to people, all people would have to want a long life in earthly bodies, and with the newly established genetics of human beings, have permanent "defragmentation" in the organelles (mitochondria).

What Dr. Aleksandra Trifunović (from Bar/Montenegro) showed and proved at the "Karolinska" Institute in Stockholm. And what was published in the scientific journal "Nature".

Evildoers are not comfortable even in such short lives on earth, so it is quite certain that evildoers cannot be positive factors of the new genetic structure of the human species, but rather they are disruptive.

That is why we must separate evil people from the noble and charitable, and destroy the most evil people - according to the laws of human communities - without compromise. Because they (villains) are also uncompromisingly selfish. If we are by absolute Intelligence, in the Set of possibilities, necessary and inevitable in the Cosmos, and absolute Intelligence offers us the possibility to, for the work of refining raw energy, enjoy a million years of joys on this planet - we are weak-minded if, for the so-called "immortality" of a few million years, we don't decide, but we continue to live like this, globally speaking, primitively. I explained how the genetic code of a species is easily changed: by no long-term evolution, but through a single generation of parents and newborns.

There are two things about this long-term living:

We humans, like other intelligent beings in the Cosmos, are beings with the purpose of transforming raw energy (expressed as nine forms, in elements and compounds) into form; what is energy with identities; as thoughts. Refined. Shepherds of human "souls" are psycho-engineers, from scientifically and technologically developed civilizations, who keep one noble human "soul" for copying into a new body, into a new biological carrier; into a new being with the same physio-mental capital and characteristics of the deceased; which during his life on Earth developed to general use.

However, for Earthlings it is like a herdsman releasing his cows into the wilderness as soon as they start giving milk, and then some dairy workers come and pick up adult cows. If we humans want each of us and our species to live here for a long time, then we must perform a correction on our genetic code; which enables existence individually in the original. And not as copied in one, tens or hundreds. All this means that the psycho-engineers do not care whether we serve the Absolute, as beings with a purpose, intellectually original or copied from them (psycho-engineers).

Every human copy exists in the delusion that it is the original: In the copied body, it still has a brain and can continue to live concretely and progress intellectually. But such originals and such copies are not essentially different. Because both here and there they exist by themselves. Like, I said, bound books.

There are certainly no bio- and psycho-engineers in the Cosmos, as much as there are physical-physiological remains of some intelligent beings of the Cosmos, so that these/those engineers could re-embodiment or, as it were, copy everything.

And it is pointless to expect God to deal with such trifles. That is there is no basis for expectations that the deceased Earthlings will rise from their graves.

Because what kind of discrimination would it be from God, if he resurrected only Christians, and not people of other faiths and those who died before the birth of Jesus Christ.

Although it is not excluded that bio- and psycho-engineers, from the memory of the planet, will physiologically activate all the benevolent people ever buried.

If someone is now wondering about the food and infrastructure of tens of billions of "resurrected" and living people on Earth, one should know that an energetic being, neither resurrected nor alive, needs neither food, nor highways, nor sewage for its existence, ...

Definitely, everything comes down to the value of the memory of the deceased.

Those who lived on Earth only as benevolent people, remain in the sphere of personal memories with themselves; non-communicative among equals, and especially non-communicative with the so-called enlightened, sanctified, blessed, i.e. remain non-communicative with God.

Just as the first-mentioned did not understand the second-mentioned during their lifetime in their bodies, so nothing attracts them in their afterlife. The enlightened and the blessed live communicatively both among themselves and with the Absolute.

Because they opened up to knowledge for all people and Absolute, even during their existence in earthly bodies.

Those who lived maliciously on Earth will experience salvation when they are, as sets of memories, erased from the planet's memory. The criminals will not be aware of this salvation, but salvation is salvation.

A living man wakes up with relief from a dream full of horrors and dangers in a dream. And salvation will come to the deceased criminals, which they will not enjoy, because they will be thrown back into some form of raw energy. So they will not exist even for themselves as an unpleasant form of energy with content. The memory of a criminal is a negative energy, so it is more functional for the existence of well-intentioned people to resolve it into a contentless one. In the end, it must be admitted that every person can ask the question: On what basis can it be claimed that the "souls" of deceased enlightened Earthlings exist fully actively, with and in the absolutely existing God? As they lived embodied on Earth (or where else). Well, here it is:

We are witnesses that there are living beings on Earth whose scene of living and mental development is water or above ground; specifically: trees, mountains and lower layers of the earth's atmosphere. And with them, even the animals that live in the forests, rainforests and shallow soil layers of the planet - do not achieve anything in the so-called spiritual development.

Just as the species of dinosaurs did not achieve anything on Earth for millions of years: Without speech, without fingers and walking, Absolute Beings cannot be understood by fish or birds; as extinct animal species could not. Further: Every intelligent person understands the value of the knowledge, experience, work and skills of a farmer and the value of wheels, gears, nuts and bolts, steam pots, sewing machines, electric motors, electronics as a whole, pleasantness in the arts, ... Everything that is useful to us for life on Earth is directly or indirectly necessary for understanding the Absolute and us humans in it. So it can be said that agriculture and technology are at the service of the spiritual development of members of the "man" species. In the service of building morale. In the service of philosophy.

What were the bow and arrow in prehistoric times. Of the arts, the most useful for the spiritual and philosophical development of people is music. Although holography is a higher art; because it is an imitation in the sphere of the first existing: in Light. Poetry and prose are games of the mind; which can also have educational values, but they are primarily forms of entertainment.

A man who, with all the facilities for life on Earth, understands the Absolute, as a retired person no longer needs either the brain or the existential-educational means, which are functional for his existence in the body; as in the physically active chemistry unit.

The enlightened one rests in a disembodied form, as physiologically active physics, the position of God; i.e., a drop in the ocean is at rest, which is aware of itself and the whole in which it exists. The "soul" of a deceased enlightened man is not the "bound book" of a well-intentioned but unenlightened deceased Earthling. The position of God is God himself.

So, the enlightened Earthling created for himself, what he could have in his body on Earth; that other members of the species "helped" him about that. If I have to specify again what it means - so be it!

What the enlightened person makes for himself for the so-called eternal life after the death of the body, a whole species can create for itself while living in bodies on Earth. And that means we need a Confederation Earth. In order to rise spiritually; without abusing agriculture and technology for destructive, colonialist and selfish-animal purposes.
